PRESS RELEASE

Enyo Law appoints new partner

LONDON - 15 January 2020 - Enyo Law is delighted to announce the appointment of international disputes lawyer Daniel Levy as a partner. Daniel has been Of Counsel to the firm since 2018.

Daniel is a dual Brazilian-Swiss national and has more than 15 years' experience representing international clients in complex cross-border commercial disputes, with a focus on cases involving but not limited to Latin America and Western Europe. Daniel also sits as an arbitrator in both institutional and ad hoc arbitration proceedings. He speaks fluent Portuguese, English, French and Spanish.

Daniel is a member of the ICC Commission on International Arbitration and ADR, and the CIArb Journal Editorial Board. He is the author of numerous legal texts, including The Brazilian Arbitration Act: a commentary guide, published by Kluwer Law International (The Hague), and Les abus de l'arbitrage commercial international, published by l'Harmattan (Paris). He is also a contributing author of The ICSID Convention, Regulations and Rules, by Edward Elgar (NYC).

Simon Twigden, Enyo Law's Senior Partner, commented: "The majority of our firm's cases are international and multi-jurisdictional in nature. Daniel is an international disputes expert and his appointment to our partnership will further enhance our expertise and reputation in the international disputes arena."

Note to Editors:

Daniel holds a Ph.D. summa cum laude from Université Panthéon-Assas (Paris II) and a master's degree from the University of São Paulo. He was a visiting scholar at Queen Mary University of London, Northwestern Pritzker School of Law in Chicago, and Fundação Getúlio Vargas in São Paulo. He is the author or a contributing author of a variety of disputes-related publications in English, French and Portuguese.
